

Box of Tricks IV

for Relief Teachers

Expand your Repertoire with other Relief Teacher Specialists

Calling all relief teachers....

- Does your "Box of Tricks" need a face-lift?
- Have you found yourself to be teaching more in less-familiar year levels?
- Are you taking a proactive approach in your preparation for the inevitable daily uncertainties that relief teaching presents.
- Are you finding that some long-time favourite activities may not be going down as well with certain cohorts of challenging learners?
- Is your "response - ability" to students constructive and effective, or does it suffer from reactivity?
- Do you value meeting other professionally committed relief teachers?

Thursday 8th April 2010

9.30am—3.30pm

In response to the resounding success of our first three Box of Tricks workshops, we are now offering a further opportunity for relief and replacement teachers to share their successes.

Bring just one activity to share, and cram your relief teaching Box of Tricks with a multitude of fresh ideas, resources, tools, techniques and activities that are proven and reliable favourites for colleagues.

This is another opportunity for generous and resourceful relief teachers who like adding breadth and versatility to their teaching, and who wish to have just the right strategy or activity at hand for any circumstance!

Participants also meet a panel of experienced relief teachers, each of whom has a unique story to share about their own accomplishments as a professional relief teacher, and their pearls of personal and professional wisdom to offer as well.
